

SIoux INDIAN IN TALK TO SCOUTS

Dr. Charles Eastman Appears Before Boys in Full Indian Regalia.

Boy Scouts and their friends of this city and vicinity filled the high school auditorium to capacity last night to listen to Dr. Charles A. Eastman, a full blooded Sioux Indian, native of North Dakota, and graduate of Harvard University, recount Indian legends and stories.

Dr. Eastman, garbed in his Indian regalia with full war paint, impressed the boys with his narrations of physical endurance withstood by the Indians, which is attributed to the activities which the Boy Scout movement now stands for.

"Scouting," said Dr. Eastman, "in my opinion is the salvation of Americanization, which has already begun to deteriorate. Not only can you boys do good to yourselves but you can also help your fellow man by unselfish acts toward him. In closing he implored the boys to continue their healthy outdoor activities and help to build up a tall and strong race.

Dr. Eastman, although 63 years old is of robust physique, which he displayed in teaching the boys woodcraft methods and tricks.

Notre Dame News

The Senior class of Notre Dame met in the basement of the library yesterday at noon and elected James Murphy as their S. R. O. C. and also John Huether of Serin Hall to represent the class upon the Students' Activities committee. There was not much opposition.

The Juniors of the same institution will meet tonight to elect two assistants to Cheer-Leader Alfred N. Slagert. This is the yearly privilege of the Junior class. Next fall one of the two men chosen tonight will be appointed head cheer leader. Agricultural students meet tonight to reorganize the Aggie Club for the year. Election of officers will be held. The Aggie club has long been one of the most active and representative bodies to be found on the Notre Dame campus. Leaders of the organization have expressed the opinion that this year the club will be larger and more vigorous than ever.

Redmen Name Delegates to State Council at Capital

STUDEBAKER WILL IS FILED IN COURT

Children and Grand Children
Named as Beneficiaries in Document.

Children and grandchildren of the late Mrs. Mary Jane Studebaker are chief beneficiaries under the terms of her will, executed April 12, 1915, and admitted to probate in the circuit court Tuesday morning. In addition three bequests were made, one of $10,000 to the Orphan's home, $10,000 to the Northern Indiana Historical society and a like sum to the Progress club.

The will, which it is estimated disposes of an estate valued in millions, provides that her son J. M. Studebaker, Jr., shall have a life tenancy in the Sunnyside mansion on E. Jefferson Blvd., and it shall then descend to her grandson John Molar Studebaker, III., the son of her son J. M. Studebaker, Jr., and Lillian Lingle Studebaker. In the event that John M. Studebaker, III., shall not survive his parents, the instrument further provides that it shall go to any other issue of her son, and further in the event that her son shall leave no issue, the home shall go to grandchildren born of her daughter Grace S. Fish and her daughter, Lillie E. Johnson.

Other Bequests.
Specific bequests mentioned in the will follow:
To granddaughters Mary Grace Peterson and Mary Jane Ballard, $31,534.38, to be divided equally between them.

To the following grandchildren, $5,000 each: John N. S. Johnson, Winard G. Johnson, Frederick Studebaker and John M. Studebaker 3rd. Also $5,000 is to be divided equally among those children surviving her of her deceased grandchild, Harry D. Johnson, Jr.

Two sons long in the employ of Mrs. Studebaker were remembered. Louis Ponnaz and Josephine Distill, should they be in the employ of Mrs. Studebaker at the time of her death, are to receive $500 and $200 respectively, the will provides.

The residue of the estate, which it is said, comprises the greater shares, is to be divided equally into three parts, one part going to her daughter, Grace S. Fish, another part to her son, J. M. Studebaker, Jr., and the third part to be divided into four shares one-fourth going to her grandchild, Mary Grace Peterson, a fourth to grandchild William G. Johnson, a fourth to grandchild John M. S. Johnson, and a fourth to the children of her grandchild, Harry D. Johnson, Jr.

$10,000 For Baby's Home.

The request to the Orphan's home stipulates that the testatrix has already given that institution $5,000 and the additional $10,000 provided in the will shall go preferably to the erection of a baby's home. The $10,000 for the Progress club is given for a new home for that club, but provision is made that in the event the building program has been abandoned, the directors may use the money as they best see fit. The bequest to the Indiana Historical society is unconditional.

The executor of the will named by Mrs. Studebaker are her daughter, Grace S. Fish and son, J. M. Studebaker, Jr. George M. Witner and Will G. Crabbil witnessed the signature to the instrument.

In a supplemental list, attached to and made a part of the will, Mrs. Studebaker provided for the distribution of her personal effects among her children and grandchildren. This list disposes of jewelry, statues, furniture, oil paintings of high value. The executors of the will also named trustees to make distribution of her personal effects as provided by her.

HOLD DE MEESTER FOR VIOLATION OF PROHIBITION LAW

Officers Find 16 Quarts of Moonshine Buried in Alley in Rear of Premises.

August DeMeester, 546 W. Sixth st., was arrested last evening on a charge of the unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor. His bonds were fixed at $500, which he furnished. He will probably be arraigned in the local city court Wednesday. DeMeester is alleged to have admitted owning six quarts of white mule which the police found hidden in the woods of a garden spot in the rear of John Mulek's pool room, at 525 S. Wells st., which property is owned by DeMeester.

Following his arrest Chief Pfender and Officer Reamer went to DeMeester's premises and found in the alley 16 quarts of moonshine in the floor in the rear, which they seized and brought to the station. Officers are of the opinion that this moonshine also belonged to DeMeester, but did not charge him with the possession of it.

GIVES ATTENTION TO BOY BICYCLE RIDER; CRASHES INTO AUTO

Distracted by attention given a boy bicycle rider who preceded him, down Mill st., at 1 o'clock this afternoon, James Beards, 1726 Lincoln way E., driving a Ford racing car was in a head on collision with Mrs.

A. J. Mutti, 803 E. Seventh st., operating a Dodge machine. Both cars were badly damaged but the occupants escaped injury. Mrs. Mutti was proceeding south on Mill st. at the intersection of Lincoln way in the heart of the city. Beards was proceeding north along Mill st. Antics of the bicycle rider held the attention of Beards who feared collision with the youth, and he failed to see Mrs. Mutti coming in the opposite direction.

Lives of school children enroute to school for the afternoon session were endangered at the point of the collision.
